

Haolun Xu

Ph.D. Student in Economic History, School of Economics, Renmin University of China

haolun_xu@ruc.edu.cn | www.haolunxu.xyz | ORCID: 0009-0003-4418-6177

Research Profile

I am a direct-entry Ph.D. student in Economic History at the School of Economics, Renmin University of China. My research lies at the intersection of development economics and economic history, with a focus on how migration, culture, and historical shocks shape regional development, firm performance, and individual behavior over the long run.

Research Interests

- Culture and Long-Run Development: How culture and historical exposure shape economic behavior and regional performance.
- Migration and Regional Development: How population reallocation affects labor markets, firms, and regional economic development.
- Economic History and Behavior: The long-run effects of historical shocks on individual behavior and social outcomes.

Education

Renmin University of China Ph.D. in Economic History (direct-entry), School of Economics.	2025–Present
Southwestern University of Finance and Economics B.S. in Economics.	2021–2025

Publications

1. Fan, W.; Xu, H.; Cheng, S.; and Yang, F. (2025). “How do health shocks affect household energy poverty?” Energy Economics. doi:10.1016/j.eneco.2025.108884
2. Gao, M.; Xu, H.; Ma, M.; Gao, G.; Chen, X.; Chen, J.; Liu, X.; and Qi, L. (2024). “Global intercountry croplands’ greenhouse gas emissions differences and their potential drivers from economic levels perspective.” Ecological Indicators. doi:10.1016/j.ecolind.2024.112635

Working Papers

Crime S.S. and H.X.	2026
Firm Productivity H.X. and C.C.	2025
Intergenerational Educational Mobility W.F., G.L., M.L., Y.S., Y.X., H.X. , and J.W.	2025

Work in Progress

- Innovation Characteristics of Enterprises (with S.S.)
- Crime (with S.S. and C.Y.)
- Manufacturing Firm Productivity
- Knowledge
- Unintended Outcome of Public Policy (with C.C. and S.F.)
- Law and Economics

Research Projects

Empowering Rural Revitalization through County-Level Converged Media in the Internet Era: Mechanism Evolution, Governance Effectiveness, and Practical Pathways 2026

Renmin University of China “Qiushi Academic–Dongliang” Brand Research Project. Key Participant.

Theoretical Framework and Implementation Pathways for Coordinating New Industrialization, New Urbanization, and Comprehensive Rural Revitalization 2025

National Social Science Fund of China, Major Special Project (No. 24ZDA046). Participant.

Satellite Remote Sensing for Advancing China’s Dual-Carbon Goals: Data Measurement, Spatiotemporal Differentiation, and Evolution Pathways 2022

Humanities and Social Sciences Research Project, Ministry of Education of China. Project No. 22YJC790025. Participant.

Conference Presentations

Firm Productivity 2025

The 25th China Economics Annual Conference, Shanghai, China. Presentation.

Firm Productivity 2024

The 12th International Workshop on Regional, Urban, and Spatial Economics in China (RUSE), Wuhan, China. Presentation.